Abstract

Apparatus and methods for electromagnetic skin treatment, including the removal of hair. Devices Include pulsed light sources such as flashlamps for providing electromagnetic treatment of the skin, including hair removal. The devices and methods provide for the removal of large numbers of hairs at the same time, rather than on a hair by hair basis.